Did you know?

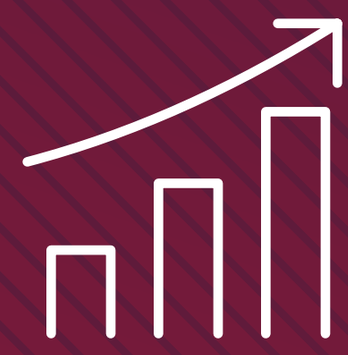

Why is competition essential?

It strengthens companies' ability to compete by offering high-quality products at reasonable prices

It encourages companies to offer better-quality products at better prices

It improves business efficiency

However, caution is essential

Any form of agreement between companies, monopolistic conduct, or abuse of a dominant market position constitutes a violation of the Competition Protection and Prevention of Monopolistic Practices Law and exposes the offender to severe penalties.

How to report a violation of the Competition Protection and Prevention of Monopolistic Practices Law
